Meditation

The image of the good shepherd has nothing to do with saccharine sentimentality. Shepherds were important figures in the Palestinian landscape. They bore total responsibility for the flocks on which their people depended. They saw to it that the sheep found adequate grazing and water in a land that could be harsh and forbidding. They kept the animals safe from wild predators and human marauders, sometimes at the cost of their own lives. If the shepherds were unfaithful, the sheep could not long survive. It is no wonder that the people of the Old Testament cast God himself in the image of the good shepherd, sustainer and protector of the flock of Israel.

The Church found the perfect fulfilment of this image in the risen Christ, who had laid down his own life to become the very source of life for his people. He nourishes his flock with the word and the bread of life. In the mixed metaphors of today's gospel, he is the gate through which they pass to the safety of the sheepfold and the shepherd who defends them from all threats of evil.

In the First Letter of Peter, Christ the Shepherd is called the "Guardian of your souls." The Greek word used is episkopos, more commonly translated as "bishop". Although Christ is no longer visibly present to us as he was to his first hearers, he continues to nourish and preserve his people through the Church's ministers. On Good Shepherd Sunday, then, we give thanks for the gift of all the good and faithful shepherds who lay down their lives in daily service to the Lord's flock.

Perpetual Adoration

St. Jean-Marie Vianney, the Curé of Ars once asked one of his parishioners who spent hours in adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, "My good father, what do you say to our Lord in those long visits you pay Him every day?" "I say nothing to Him," was the man's moving reply; "I look at Him and He looks at me."

Take the "Power Hour Challenge": spend an hour talking and listening to our Lord in the Adoration Chapel once a week for the next month and see for yourself. Even 10 or 15 minutes with Him can help make a trying day that much easier to bear!

"In the chapel I am free of all those things that busy my mind and hands. There is no laundry, no internet, no dusting, no shopping lists...there is simply an hour of quiet, an hour to commune and listen."

"After a visit to the Chapel, I feel renewed peace and tranquility in my mind and heart. There is something special and sacred praying before the Blessed Sacrament!"

Nightstop

Nightstop North-East Scotland offers temporary, emergency accommodation for young people facing homelessness. This could be for many reasons, with 75% of referrals being due to a breakdown of relationships at home. This accommodation is offered in the homes of trained and vetted volunteers, who are supported by professional staff.

Hosts can be anyone, with the only requirements being that they must be able to provide a spare room, a hot evening meal and a listening ear! This offers an accommodation option which may be more suitable for young people than traditional homeless hostels.
